

Ayrton Senna

A

1. Ayrton Senna da Silva was a Brazilian race car driver.
2. Senna won three World Championships.
3. Senna also won 41 Grand Prix titles.
4. Senna raced for Van Diemen, Formula Ford 2000 and McLaren Honda.
5. Senna had a fierce rivalry with Alain Prost. With this rivalry, he started becoming well-known for his risky tactics on the racing track, which often required absolute perfection with no space for mistakes.
6. Senna stood out in his era because of his almost supernatural instinctive understanding of a car's internal functions.
7. During the San Marino Grand Prix on 1 May 1994, Senna's car crashed into a concrete barrier. He suffered massive head injuries which resulted in his death.
8. Senna's 'tragic end indicates the temporary nature of life, irrespective of how glorious it may seem, and the importance of exercising caution without being too reckless.

B

1. It is quite evident that Senna had an insatiable thirst for winning at any cost since he performed. Risky tactics with perfection and he practiced racing like meditation.
- 2 Senna was a modest man who cared deeply about people of his country. He wasn't boastful about his contributions to the society.